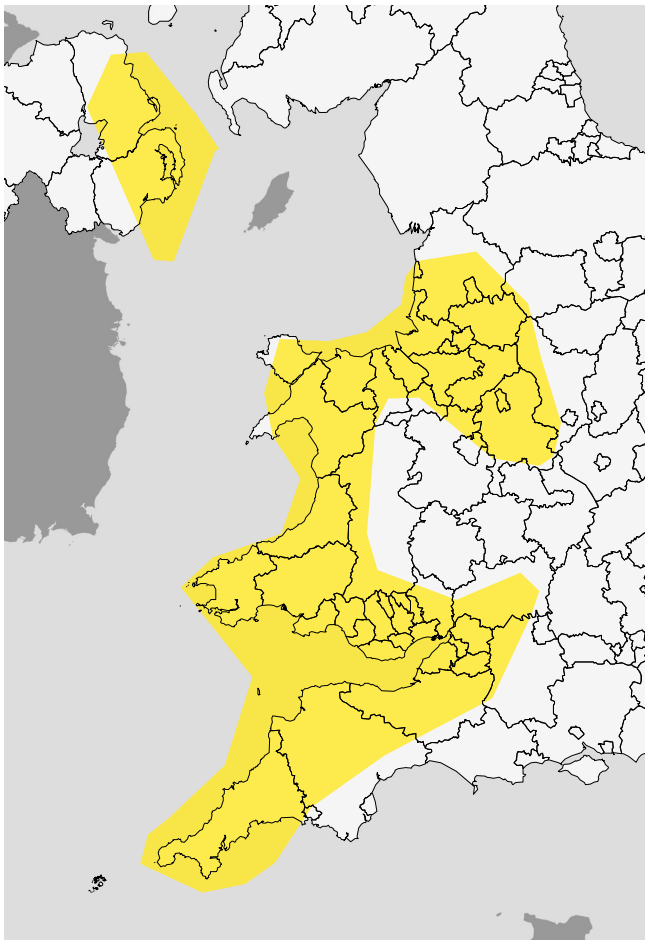
Yellow warning
Snow & Ice

Between
16:00 Thu 8 Dec 2022 and
12:00 Sun 11 Dec 2022



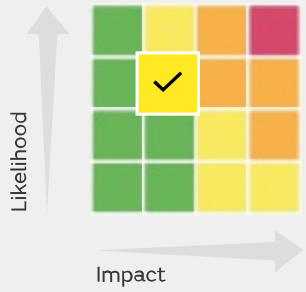
Some disruption is likely due to icy surfaces, with snowfall in a few places.

What to expect

- Probably some icy patches on some untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths
- Some injuries from slips and falls on icy surfaces
- In a few areas, difficult travel conditions may occur quite quickly due to heavy sleet, snow or hail showers making surfaces slippery or even snow-covered

Further details

Frequent wintry showers are likely to fall onto frozen surfaces in places, leading to the formation of icy patches. These showers are expected to fall as snow on high ground, with the potential for several centimetres to accumulate, especially over the high ground of north Wales but the odd slushy centimetre may fall at lower levels too.



Medium likelihood of low impacts

Yellow warning
Snow & Ice

Between
16:00 Thu 8 Dec 2022 and
12:00 Sun 11 Dec 2022

Reason for update

Warning now labelled as ice and snow. Area adjusted, with southern Scotland and the north of Northern Ireland seeing a reduction in wintry showers from now on. However some increase in eastward extent anticipated for early Saturday across southwest England. An increase in eastward extent also applies on Saturday night and early Sunday across southeast Wales and southwest England, with possible snowfall to low levels.
